Dean Agnes Reilly ends long career

Dean of Women Dona MacDonald

Ms. Agnes Reilly, former Dean of Women, officially retired from office on her birthday, March 22.

She explains, "The decision was not a sudden one. Those directly involved with the office have known since last Spring." She adds, however, "I did wish to keep it as quiet as possible in order to get more accomplished this year."

COMMENTING upon her plans for the future she says, "I'm taking time to relax and enjoy my freedom from the pressures and tensions of a college campus."

Ms. Dona MacDonald, former assistant Dean of Women, has been named as the new Dean. She explains, "When I came to S.U. three and one half years ago as Dean Reilly's assistant she made it fairly clear that she intended to retire within five years and needed someone who would be willing to take over — at the time I couldn't make any promises."

Nevertheless, Ms. Reilly has retired after devoting 14 years to the promotion and improvement of the S.U. community

"NO PLANS HAVE or are being made for a farewell celebration, she simply didn't want it that way," Dean MacDonald explained. But on March 22 a concelebrated mass was said for Ms. Reilly in Bellarmine Chapel, and was followed by a brunch in the Chez Moi. Approximately 38 close friends — faculty and students — attended the events to celebrate Ms. Reilly's birthday as well as to give tribute to her 14 years of service.

Dean MacDonald outlined her immediate plans under five basic points. She states, "Spring quarter I won't have an assistant because of the financial problems S.U. is experiencing, so actually I'll be handling two full jobs."

She sees a definite need to change the image which has been associated with the Dean of Women's office for years. She describes this image as "... primarily a disciplinary and very authoritative office—the motherly image must go."

ADDITIONAL ISSUES at the top of her list for this quarter are projects such as the development of Women's Commission, the recruiting of women alumni interested in working with women's organizations on campus, and the establishment of a referral service for women

Dean MacDonald stresses the need to place more importance on community students and their needs. She hopes that AWS and Women's Commission will be important facets in pulling students together.

Describing her feelings about Ms. Reilly's retirement she said, "S.U. is going to miss having her, I know I will — how can you thank someone for 14 years of their life?"

ASSU to hire pollwatchers in future elections

The third (and possibly last) primary election for ASSU second vice president has been scheduled for Thursday, according to John Peterson, ASSU first vice president.

THE FIRST two primaries were invalidated.

Candidates Creighton Balinbin, Bill Brophy and Philip Jenkins will meet in the new race. Polling places will be the Chieftain, Bellarmine and the L. A. building from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For the first time, proctors will be paid, with $30 going to the I.K.'s and $30 to the A Phi O's to provide proctors for the primary, according to Peterson. The same amount is allocated for the April 11 final election. A shortage of proctors has been a problem in recent student elections.

IN AN EFFORT to have more complete knowledge of the campaign, Peterson asked that candidates clear any campaign literature larger than a 3x4 poster through his office.

He also asks that candidates clear any campaign "stunts" through him also. A special application is available for this purpose. Peterson emphasizes that he is not trying to restrict campaigning but merely wants to establish a channel for regular campaign procedures.

Balinbin, a junior in physics, feels there should be an emphasis on public relations and an effort to attract the community as well as campus participants to events.

He suggests a combined counseling-tutorial service to be staffed by members of the academic honoraries.

ANOTHER SUGGESTION is initiation of a blind date and escort service.

He favors co-sponsorship of campus events by several clubs to promote a wider range of student participation.

Brophy, a junior in business, is a student senate member as junior class president. He would like a return of the ASSU happy hour and feels it is possible.

He also suggests a Cultural Week to allow all the campus' ethnic groups to display their culture. Brophy says the work which the senate is presently doing on housing could become part of the second vice president's duties.

He hopes to see the return of big name entertainment and feels it is possible with involvement of all the clubs.

Philip Jenkins is a sophomore pre-major.

HE IS PRESENTLY vice-president of SAAME and the Political Union. Jenkins says, "I have learned what appeals to people on campus and what doesn't appeal to them — what they like and what they will attend."

He would like to establish an informal group of students on campus "to sell themselves as being friendly to other students in order to motivate them." He emphasizes that meeting students on an individual basis is the beginning of motivation.

A Phi's, I.K's hired; girl proctors to come

For the first time, ASSU has decided to pay organizations which supply election proctors for the upcoming primary and final election for ASSU second vice president.

LAST QUARTER'S ASSU elections were run without the requisite number of proctors because sufficient students could not be found to run the polling places.

According to Pat Lupo, ASSU president, $30 each will be given the A Phi O's and the I.K.'s for their 30 man-hours of work in Thursday's primary. The same amount will be given each organization for work in the final, making a total of $60 each.

Funds will be taken from the Election Board's $250 budget, Lupo said. If even one proctor fails to show up, the entire $30 for that organization will be revoked.

EXPLAINING the choice of all-male service groups, Lupo noted that a factor in John Cummin's protest of the last election was that girl proctors were unable to punch i.d. cards properly. As soon as an alternative method of marking the cards can be worked out, proctors of both sexes will be used again.

Lupo also noted that an ad hoc senate committee to revise the election code will be set up at the next senate meeting, April 10.

Xavier Hall wins extension of room visitation hours

New, longer visitation hours went into effect for Xavier hall this quarter.

THE NEW HOURS permit visitors in students' rooms from 11 a.m. to midnight Sunday through Thursday and 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. Friday and Saturday.

The new hours were wholly approved on March 14, according to Fr. Timothy Cronin, S.J., vice president for students. They cleared the Student Personnel Board and the President's Cab-net EARLIER LAST MONTH, the Student Personnel Board had approved the weekday hours requested by Xavier residents but asked for a new proposal for weekend hours. Residents had requested a 24-hour open dorm on weekends and holidays.

The Personnel Committee was concerned with the plight of the dormie whose roommate might have late (or all-night) guests in their room.

University starts all-out effort to tap research-grant coffers

S.U.'s search for academic research grants has shifted into high gear with the establishment of the Office of the Director of Academic Research.

The unit, headed by Fr. James Cowgill, S.J., evolved from the Office of the Director of Research and Institutional Development.

THE OFFICE is charged with obtaining and disseminating information on available academic research grants. It will also aid faculty members in preparing proposals for submission to granting agencies.

Where the office of research and institutional development was a one-man entity, consisting of Fr. Cowgill, the new office is a team of three.

Fr. Cowgill, also a member of the University's research committee, is responsible for providing support facilities to initiate proposals and funding of all academic research, equipment acquisitions, and new academic programs. He will coordinate, review, and approve proposals to off-campus agencies.

DR. GARY ZIMMERMAN, associate professor of chemistry, is consultant for off-campus funded research and represents S.U. to all public and private agencies in the procurement of such support.

Miss Patricia Young will write and edit grant proposals, the wording of which can be critical.

Dr. Zimmerman noted that research grants are available to students. Both the National Science Foundation and the National Endowment for the Humanities have funds available.

THE OFFICE will offer the same services to students as to faculty.

Job story: don't wait till June

by Dolores Schafer, S.P.

"Kids are going to have to hustle to get a job," according to Lt. Col. Michael J. Dolan, director of financial aid. Students needing a summer job should have started looking and applying for positions at the first of the year.

ABOUT the only students who will not have a hard time finding summer work are the minorities, said Dolan. The National Youth Corps is hiring a lot of minorities this summer. The program may possibly fall under a work-study situation. According to Dolan, S.U. has been asked to contribute funds to the program but he has not been able to make a commitment because of the uncertainty that funds will exist.

"Students just can't wait till school is out and expect to find a job," said Dolan. "They should have already applied at the Washington State Employment Security office."

He also advises students to take advantage of any personal contacts or other leads in finding jobs.

THERE WERE a number of openings for work in the National Parks but few students applied. There are information and application forms in the financial aid office.

Dolan emphasized that if graduating seniors do not already have a job lined up for next year things may get especially rough. According to Dolan, all seniors should have taken the Federal Service Examination in the fall. Students do not always get exactly what they want but he feels it is better to at least be working while looking for just the right thing, than not to be working at all.

Dolan feels that the number of jobs available, at least locally, are about the same as last year at this time but that things should begin to pick up in the fall.

ACCOUNTANTS have the best chance for finding work, according to Dolan. A background in accounting also opens up other positions in the area of business.

If the student is really willing to work, insurance is a going field at this time. According to Dolan, there are many companies in Seattle that have S.U. graduates on the payroll.

The usual stream of interviewers from nationally known firms coming to S.U. is way down this year, said Dolan. They only have a few positions to fill and generally get all the people they need with one or two stops at a larger University.

COL. DOLAN and Dr. Gerald Cleveland, dean of the school of business, are planning a seminar for seniors in the fall which will cover how to take an interview and planning resumes. "But the hand holding days are over," added Dolan. "The kids have to get out there and hustle."

A Job Fair is scheduled for today and tomorrow at the Seattle Center to help veterans find part time or full time work. Veterans may also seek help through the financial aid office.

A Phi O's relocated

Beginning April 15, the A Phi O's will be located in the basement of the Alumni House. They were previously located in the basement of the Office of Minority Affairs.

According to Bob Wilson, A Phi O president, the Office of the Minority Affairs, while sharing the basement with the Office of New Careers, will be using the place for its tutoring and counseling services.

THE A PHI O's had been 'co-using' the place with the Office of Minority Affairs since December, Wilson said, and then Minority Affairs negotiated with the Office of Plant and Management for the usage of the entire place, which the A Phi O's had been using for their meetings for the past four years.

The Office of the Minority Affairs will be renting the basement whereas the A Phi O's have been using it free of charge, according to Wilson.

Asked about a possibility of space problem, Wilson replied, "We can make do with the space that we have — that's no problem."

Free enterprise . . .

Everyone can use a buck.

ASSU has decided that election proctors need a little more motivation than that of altruistic service to school and candidates. (Recent scarcity of proctors would seem to prove them right.)

Thirty dollars each will be allotted to the I.K.'s and A Phi O's, S.U.'s service fraternities, for this week's primary election, and the same amount for next week's final election for ASSU second vice president.

THIS MAY do the trick. We wonder, however, in the interests of free economic competition, if a little competitive bidding on this proctor fee should not be encouraged.

Spurs can use money as well as the next service organization. Perhaps they could negotiate to work for $25 per election if they adhered to a stringent program of finger exercises prior to the election so that they would be fully capable of punching all i.d. cards.

THEN AGAIN, if money is the name of the game, competitive bidding should include all organizations on campus, particularly the small ones with little opportunity to gain funds.

Burgundy Bleus could use the money for drill meets. They could give ASSU an offer of, say, $22.50 and promise to appear in full dress uniform, thus lending a crisp, military aura to the polling places.

SWANS, (State of Washington Association of Student Nurses), which has so far gone the ice cream social route in their fund-raising activities, might agree to man the polls for a mere $19.75 plus tax.

THE HOMELESS Radio Club could negotiate a contract for $15.83, which could conceivably cover the cost of plywood and nails to build a lean-to atop Marian Hall.

All of this undercutting could bid the I.K.'s and A Phi O's right out of their place at the polls. They would at least be forced to agree to appear for less—say, $10 per election.

THAT FIGURE would hardly make it worthwhile, however, and the truly criminal mind might begin to think of ways to invalidate each election, in hopes of securing more.

Let's see, $30 per election, four elections per quarter, compounded annually, with interest. . .

letter to editor

oppression

To the Editor:

Willie Toliver has charged that racial discrimination on the part of intramurals officials provokes fights which take place in the intramurals program.

The officials let the game get out of hand on the part of the Spread team. They were so physical, I thought I was playing a football game instead of basketball. I called time out to talk to the referees about calling a fair game on both ends of the court, they didn't listen to my complaint.

IN REFERENCE to the article in the March 9 issue of the Spectator, the article is a one sided statement (lie) which tries to make me look like a mad man, representing the Soul Hustlers team, who goes around throwing punches. Sure, I hit him only after he physical beat me to death. He didn't get called for the foul either.

After this occurred, Crafton tried to eject me from the game. The only mistake he made was trying to eject me physically instead of asking me to leave the game. At this time the incident was over. As far as Mr. Danklefsen, his statements were nothing other than discrimination on a higher and on a psychological plane . . . that the results of his statement may easily convict me. Three against one is always better in the end.

As far as the board meeting, I think that I was a victim of a political game. In regard to my suspension, I'll take it as another experience of racism.

THE SOUL HUSTLERS teams in the S.U. intramurals program are constantly being agitated, humiliated, insulted and oppressed by referees, players and some teams.

Travel and song

Choir tours during spring break

by Dolores Schafer, S.P.

Spring break was a time of travel and song for the Seattle University A Cappella Choir and Chieftain Chorale.

Thirteen concerts were the object of an eight day tour which took the choir as far south as Santa Clara, Calif. Three days were spent in San Francisco with other stops at Dunsmuir and Sacramento, Calif., and Medford and Portland, Ore.

THE GROUP of sleepy students pulled out of Tacoma in two busses at 3:30 a.m. March 18, with girls in navy blue traveling dresses and the men in red or black blazers.

Sixty-two choir members and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kelly received a rapid introduction to cramped bus living during the 11 hour trip to Dunsmuir, the first stop on the tour. Arriving two hours early gave choir members time to see the small town on foot and to meet the people for whom they were to perform.

Food was always plentiful during tour. In Sacramento it was especially evident due to the hospitality of Ron Bennett's family. Bennett is a tenor in choir. The Bennetts supplied the entire group with barbecued chicken, potato and tossed salad, beans, rolls, punch and cake. Later the same day the choir received a lasagana dinner from their hosts at Jesuit High School in Sacramento.

THE CHOIR spent a free day in San Francisco, where most of the members stayed in the Americana Motor Lodge at the expense of the choir. Usually the host choir or group provides housing for each member in private homes, giving the students the opportunity to meet the people.

The last three days of tour were spent singing in the plaza of Ghirradelli Square and Grace Episcopal Cathedral in San Francisco and at St. Mary's High School in Medford. The choir gave three concerts at Trinity Methodist Church in Portland Saturday night and at two Sunday morning services.

The choir concluded the tour with a smorgasbord banquet lunch in Vancouver on the way back to Seattle.

Ninety-three faculty pick AAUP as bargaining agent

Ninety-three S.U. faculty members have signed authorizations designating the S.U. chapter to the American Association of University Professors as their collective bargaining agent. Approximately 160 faculty are eligible for inclusion in a bargaining unit.

The authorizations have been filed with the National Labor Relations Board with a request for recognition, according to Dr. Warren Johnson, AAUP chapter president.

THE NLRB WILL HOLD a public hearing on campus in the near future to determine if an election should be held, said Johnson.

The University will prepare and release an official statement on the matter in the near future, according to William Fritz, director of public relations.

MUN needs all-school help

by Cheryl Carlson

The XXII Session of the Model United Nations of the Far West is only two weeks away. The Session will run April 19-22. The two years of tedious preparation by S.U.'s Host Secretariat is almost over. Now the Secretariat needs the help of the entire University. Nearly 1,000 students from 100 western colleges and universities will participate in the session. One of the most important contributions of the host school is supplying the students to staff the session.

MUN DESPERATELY NEEDS the student help involving at least one-third of the S.U. student body. Personnel, directed by Kathy Stapleton, is needed in all areas—food servers under Jeff Rosenfield, pages for committees under Bob Armstrong, security guards under Lenzy Stuart, and duplicating personnel under Jim Sarro.

Every student working on the session and credentialed as a member of the staff will receive academic cuts from all classes missed.

Interested students may fill out the form below and leave it in one of the boxes in Liberal Arts, Bellarmine, the Bookstore, or the Chieftain this week. A member of the secretariat will contact students soon informing them of their assignment. Any questions will be answered by the MUN office, ext. 5999.

The word is ... it's spring ...

IT'S SPRING, or so the story goes, and strange, non-scholastic things begin to appear on campus—a daffodil peering from behind one tree and dominating the less-than-beautiful pipe growing beside it—and a student growing from yet another tree in a relaxed compromise between work and play.

Wheeler in title role

Professional acts at Teatro Inigo

Alfred W. Wheeler is a professional actor who once played in Tarzan and Flash Gordon movies. Next week, Wheeler will play the title role in Teatro Inigo's production of "The Imaginary Invalid" by Moliere.

Wheeler will play the part of Monsieur Argan, a hypochondriac.

WILLIAM J. DORE Jr., drama director, asked Wheeler to take the part because the actor is a specialist in Moliere style acting.

Born in Seattle, Wheeler has been acting since he was 12, when he worked in summer stock.

He has been involved with various phases of the profession—movies, television serials and lectures as well as producing and directing and teaching.

THE TEATRO production will be the third time Wheeler has performed Moliere's "Invalid". The short farce deals with the medical profession.

Music for the play was composed by Fr. Kevin J. Waters, S.J., assistant professor of music.

At the same time, Teatro will also stage "The Doctor in Spite of Himself," another short farce by Moliere.

STUDENT ACTORS in the two plays are Terry Brumble, Ann Conroy, Colleen Egger, Ken Kurtenbach, Ann Matthews, David Mills, Dennis Nollette, Chris Notske, Roseanne Orton, Tom Orton.

Steven Probst, John Selig, Leslie K. Somerville, Sue Sullivan, Dustin Waln, and Larry Wollworth will also perform.

Performance dates for the plays are April 10-15 with 8 p.m. curtain time. Tickets are $2 or $1.50 for students.

TEATRO INIGO is located at Broadway and Columbia.

Chieftains lose racquet battle to Huskies

Top notch performances by singles player Mike Prineas, the Chiefs' number one singles tennis player, and his partner, Warren Farmer, in the doubles match fared well against the University of Washington Saturday, but the Huskies overall strength led to a brutalizing 6-3 win for the cross-town team.

Prineas started off with a hot racquet-ball connecting act, but later faltered in the second set. Bryce Perry, Prineas' opponent, became exacting in his shots, with long drive slides down the sides of the courts, catching Prineas off guard about four times.

AT THE 2-4 mark of the second set Prineas' thinking was, "I was just remembering to keep hitting through the ball. I figured to lose the set, so I thought I'd just get in touch for the third one." Prineas lost the second set 2-6.

The S.U. ace, buckled up under the pressure and managed to skunk Perry in the third set 6-0, to win the match, for a 6-3, 2-6, 6-0 win.

Prineas' win over Perry gives the Chieftain player an unbeaten record in singles play in dual matches this year.

FARMER AND Prineas battled around in the doubles competition with a pleasing defeat over the U.W. duo 6-4, 6-3.

The only other winner for the Chiefs was Dave Merrill's victory over Husky Dave Mark 6-2, 2-6, 7-5.

The Huskies wiped up on most of the other matches: Gary Yee (U.W.) def. Warren Farmer (S.U.) 6-4, 6-0; Don Beer (U.W.) def. Gary Dankelfson (S.U.) 6-1, 6-1; Mike Scharman (U.W.) def. John Galbraith (S.U.) 6-1, 6-0; Hussien Loffy (U.W.) def. Marc Soriano (S.U.) 2-6, 6-4, 6-2.

IN DOUBLES: Prineas-Farmer (S.U.) def. Yee-Perry (U.W.) 6-4, 6-3. Sharman-Beer (U.W.) def. Dangelson-Soriano (S.U.) 6-2, 6-2. Carlyon-Berg (U.W.) def. Galbraith - Merrill (S.U.) 7-5, 2-6, 7-6.

Williams carries one stroke lead in tourney

by Sue hill

Keith Williams, S.U.'s number two player, has shot a 36 hole 140 total to take the lead at this year's S.U. host golf tournament at Alderbrook Golf and Yacht Club, which continues today.

The 36 holes of the 54 hole tournament in which Williams is playing gives the Chieftain linksmen a six under par total after two rounds of play along with a one shot lead over Scott McBreen from the University of Washington.

Williams shot consistent rounds under the pressure. He came around after the first 18 with a 71 and then turned around and burned the course for his second 18 with a mere 69 strokes.

AS OF THIS morning, S.U. was in fourth place with a team total of 757. The U.W. is in command of first place with a 731 total. University of Oregon is in second with 738 and Portland State, the defending champions, in third with 756. The only team close enough to catch up with the Chiefs is Washington State with a 36 hole total of 762.

Other teams lagging numerically behind S.U. are: Western Washington at 776, University of British Columbia at 792, Gonzaga at 799 and Simon Fraser at 857.

Defending individual honors is Mike Gugich from Portland State, who is currently holding down the third position with a total of 143, just three strokes away from leader Williams.

Individually for S.U., George Jonson shot rounds of 73-77 for a 150 total, Pete Yaki went 76-77 for a 153 combination, George Schindler went around the two rounds with a 74-81 for a 155 and Max Norgart shot rounds of 76-83 for a 159 total.

All the scores are based on the lowest five scores of each team. The sixth player's score is eliminated.

Williams also paced the tournament opener for the Chiefs when they played in a tournament at the University of Oregon March 20 and 21. Williams had a combined total of 154 to help his team finish sixth in the tournament.

B-Ballers to face Green River; Edmonds gives Chiefs first wins

The Chieftain baseball team, after competing in the Don Kirsch Memorial Tournament last weekend, will play Green River Community College today.

Tomorrow the Chiefs will host Shoreline Community College in a doubleheader at White Center.

IN THE FIRST round of the Don Kirsch Memorial Tournament, last Saturday, the Chiefs beat Oregon State, 8-3, behind the three hit pitching of Ron Thompson.

The game was scoreless until the third inning when S.U.'s Darrell Prentice doubled. Catcher Joe D'Ambrosio then walked and Bob Polaski was safe on an error, driving in Prentice.

Outfielder Bradd Bever continued the rally with a double, driving in D'Ambrosio. Walks to John Varga and Woody Hall, forced in Polaski. Pat Smith then tripled to score Bever, Varga, and Hall.

THE CHIEFS beat Edmonds Community College in both ends of a doubleheader, March 29, to give them their first win of the season. In the first game the Chiefs got a no-hitter from pitchers Arnie Kvarnberg and Bob Nicholas to shut out Edmonds, 2-0. Kvarnberg, a right handed freshman, went the first four innings before being relieved by Nicholas.

In the second game the Chiefs power came through with Varga, Hall and Jim Byrne hitting homers to give the team a 6-2 win.

Crew team off to slow start with more losses than wins

by Sue Hill

Try and try and try and . . . So it goes and so the crew does not. With four regattas under their belt, the crew team has come up short of victories.

Against the University of Puget Sound March 11, the Chieftain rowers won one race out of a possible three. The race consisted of all four-man boats.

THE VARSITY eight lost out again March 18 when they finished fourth against Western Washington, University of British Columbia and University of Puget Sound on American Lake in Tacoma. In the same fashion the Jayvees stroked in last.

With what seems to be tradition so far this season, the varsity team lost to the University of Oregon at Eugene on March 25. The bright spot came when the Jayvees oared to a victory over the Oregon team. This was the first win for the freshman-sophomore boat.

Once again the varsity lightweight eight came up against stiff competition when they raced Oregon State. And once more they wavered back in the water and ended up behind.

IN SPITE of a last second sprint for the finish line, the Jayvees had to settle for a loss, but only about one-eighth of a second separated the two rival teams.

So far, the crew team has raced against heavy weight boats. Which isn't so bad, except that the S.U. eight are a light weight boat and find it much harder to row against a boat that has unlimited weight (heavy weight boats).

Unfortunately the Chiefs just don't have the available men to qualify for a heavy weight boat.

THE CHIEFTAIN crew will host a three-way meet this Saturday against Oregon State and Western Washington on the Montlake course on Lake Washington at 10 a.m. Both varsity and junior varsity boats will row.

Playoffs for basketball scheduled

Intramural basketball will continue next week with the playoffs originally scheduled to take place last quarter.

The intramural action was delayed because of an altercation between intramural player Willie Toliver and intramural referees.

A COMMITTEE met at the end of last quarter and decided to suspend Toliver from further intramural basketball competition.

The committee also decided to resume the basketball playoffs. They are now scheduled for next week. Further details of the games will be in Thursday's Spectator.

"Good things concerning intramurals did come out of the meeting," Bernie Simpson, head of intramurals, said.

● There will be a meeting tomorrow at 3 p.m. for all team captains involved in winter sports. The meeting will concern the "A" league playoffs and what sports there will be for this quarter. The meeting will be in the athletic department conference room.

HEAD OF KNOWLEDGE

READ 3,000 WORDS PER MINUTE & UP

A special presentation of an astonishing educational breakthrough!

You will discover in a provocative illustrated lecture that you have a capacity to read at staggering speeds of several thousand words per minute—with full comprehension.

You will actually be tested in the audience to determine your exact present level of reading speed and comprehension. Only you will know your score.

You will actually see a compelling documentary film featuring a group of University Professors who testify to the benefits of this fantastic educational breakthrough.

You will see a second exciting film showing Reading Dynamics Graduates from the State of Washington, demonstrating their astounding reading skill acquired in the short span of 8 weeks.

Comments from recent graduate students:

STEVE VARON,
HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR

"When it comes to studying, I retain the material much better now. I don't regress, as I used to. And I've cut my homework time in half. Being able to read much faster has also, I think, increased my general knowledge in many other areas. For example, I can read a whole newspaper now in a half-hour. A novel takes me one hour at the most. I've already recommended the course to all my friends. And many of them are going to take Reading Dynamics."

NATALIA LABINSKY,
UNIVERSITY FRESHMAN

"Reading Dynamics has cut my study time in half. It's given me the opportunity to learn and study more. I have a very broad field of interests. Just about everything interests me. I was teetering on dropping out of school completely or getting extremely low grades. Thanks to Reading Dynamics, I pulled myself out and have gotten high scores on tests. When I go to school, kids ask about it. I tell them and they seem very impressed."

TOM DAVID,
BUSINESSMAN

"I can read an average novel in 45 minutes. What used to be a week's reading for me takes about a half-hour now. I recommend the course highly. You become a better-informed individual in both business and pleasure materials and increase your chances of being successful. Reading Dynamics is the best self-improvement course of its type. You can measure the cost of the course in benefits which will last a lifetime. The difference between a winner and a loser in a highly competitive world is a slight edge and Reading Dynamics can help to give you that edge. You can't lose on this one."

Ski Club packs for White Pass

The S.U. Ski Club is planning a White Pass weekend trip "of sun and spring skiing" Saturday and Sunday. Leaving early Saturday morning, the group will return Sunday evening.

Overnight accommodations will be at Timberline Village located fourteen miles west of the White Pass ski area. The village is designed like a Western town, complete with a "Dry Gulch Saloon," "Snidley Whiplash Marshall's Office", and the "No-Tell Hotel." The buildings have bunk facilities.

THE WHITE PASS ski area features twin double chair lifts, each a mile long, and a smaller chair for beginners. Terrain is varied with runs for novice through expert skiers.

Cost of the trip is $13.50 for meals, lodging and bus transportation. Meals included are Saturday dinner and Sunday breakfast. Those wishing to drive may stay overnight at the village for $5.50, but everyone is urged to take the bus.

Pictures talk. Some little boys don't.

Some inner-city ghettos have special schools. For little boys who don't talk.

Not mute little boys. But children so withdrawn, so afraid of failure, they cannot make the slightest attempt to do anything at which they might fail.

Some don't talk. Some don't listen. Most don't behave. And all of them don't learn.

One day someone asked us to help.

Through Kodak, cameras and film were distributed to teachers. The teachers gave the cameras to the kids and told them to take pictures.

And then the miracle. Little boys who had never said anything, looked at the pictures and began to talk. They said "This is my house." "This is my dog." "This is where I like to hide." They began to explain, to describe, to communicate. And once the channels of communication had been opened, they began to learn.

We're helping the children of the inner-city. And we're also helping the adults. We're involved in inner-city job programs. To train unskilled people in useful jobs.

What does Kodak stand to gain from this? Well, we're showing how our products can help a teacher—and maybe creating a whole new market. And we're also cultivating young customers who will someday buy their own cameras and film. But more than that, we're cultivating alert, educated citizens. Who will someday be responsible for our society.

After all, our business depends on our society. So we care what happens to it.

More than a business.
